A SAD BLIND

Unfortunately, for the many millions interested in the subject, my prediction on New Year's morning that the President would scuttle the Townsend old-age pension plan, has been fulfilled.

Only a few days following that forecast the voluble wife of the Chief Executive, administered a verbal black eye to the plan, and on Thursday the President chirped its death song in his message to Congress.

"Tis true, 'tis pity;
Pity, 'tis true."

NOT FEASIBLE

Although neither posing nor pretending to be a financier, not even of the Wallingford variety, from the inception of the plan I did not consider it feasible, with the nation's debt mounting by billions, to provide the funds that would have made it possible to pay $200 a month to its beneficiaries. The pensioner, in the desired object, other than the dubious claim that it would solve the perplexing problem of national recovery. The latter was a novel theory in economics that has yet to be tested in the crucible of experience, and it is to be presumed that the President's confidential circle of brain-trusters, advised against such experimentation.

BASIC PRINCIPLE SOUND

But the basic principle of the Townsend plan is not only sound but just and humanitarian. It has already been recognized as such by a number of progressive States which have established agencies to aid the aged within their jurisdiction. The Townsend plan soared too high in its eleventh-hour purpose but the President in his message to Congress skidded to the other extreme.

PITIFUL SUM

Most heartily do I agree with Senator Borah that the proposed allowance of $30 a month is in-

Automobile Code Is Discussed At White House Meet

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—UP—Donald R. Richberg, the President's chief recovery lieutenant, said today after a White House conference that many serious problems remained to be worked out before the automobile code is renewed.

Richberg made this observation in connection with reports that the code would be renewed automatically on February 1.

He said reports were expected soon on an investigation of code provisions and their effect on the industry. He added that one matter under special study was the question of regularization of employment.

Richberg said he discussed the auto code with the President to some extent, and also took part in the New York relief program involving expenditure of $1,000,000.

Boy Injured In Auto Crash At Intersection

An 11-year old boy was slightly injured last night in an automobile accident at Thirteenth street and Roosevelt avenue.

Jack Germaine of 2737 Esmond avenue, suffered cuts and bruises in the crash. He did not receive hospital treatment.

Cars driven by Mrs. D. A. Marcos, of Pineale and Fred Travis, of 206 Blaisell avenue, collided at Seventh and Lucas avenue earlier in the afternoon. Slight damage was done. No one was injured.

Bruno Bank Account To Be Probed

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 19.—UP—The banking and brokerage accounts of Bruno Richard Hauptmann will prove that he alone handled the $20,000 that was the profit in the kidnaping and death of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., the prosecution said today.

The stolid German's trial on charges of murdering the infant son of Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh was in adjournment for the week end, but Attorney General David T. Wilentz and his staff of prosecutors worked unceasingly, building up the case which they say will send Hauptmann to the electric chair.

Next week, Wilentz said, the State will climax its case with a smashing drive against attempts of Hauptmann's attorneys, Edward J. Reilly and his associates, to show that Hauptmann, at best, was a petty money lender, who lived from hand to mouth by engaging in small deals, with a group of German friends.

Reilly and his staff planned to spend the week-end in analyzing (Continued on Page 8)

Maennerchor To Present Annual Dance On Feb. 2

Preparations are being completed for the grand annual masquerade ball to be given by the Richmond Maennerchor at Winter's hall on the evening of Saturday, February 2.

The committee for the affair, announced last night, are: Joe Hirth (chairman); R. Barila, G. Kieger, R. Schiabel, P. Schmittman, A. Fernandez and Joe Humm. Music for dancing will be furnished by Tack's orchestra.

IS AT HOSPITAL

Mrs. Irene Calkins of 1106 Barrett avenue, underwent a major operation at Hospital Richmond yesterday. She is under the care of Dr. U. S. Abbott. Her condition was reported as "very satisfactory" last night. It is expected that she will return home in a couple of days.

BONUS BILL FIGHT WILL BE STARTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—UP—House leaders maneuvered today to bring the $2,000,000,000 bonus bill to a vote ahead of the Administration's economy security program upon which President Roosevelt has asked rush action.

In the interest of party harmony they want to dispose of the bonus as soon as possible, and prevent any insurgent move, such as threatened by Rep. Wright Patman, D. Tex., to force the issue to a vote by petition.

START HEARINGS

Under the plan the ways and means committee, while it goes ahead with the security program, would try to wedge bonus hearings in during the next two weeks. These hearings, which would be abbreviated, probably would have to be held at night. This arrangement would not delay action on social security but would enable the House to act shortly on the bonus.

Speaker Joseph W. Cannon today said that while he "would not attempt to dictate to the ways and means committee, I think the bonus should be disposed of as soon as possible."

AGREEMENT MADE

Administration leaders succeeded in getting the discharge petition rule changed at the beginning of the session by agreeing to give the bonus right of way. Until the president thumped the security program down and asked early action, it had been expected the bonus would have right of way. It still will if the present (Continued on Page 8)

Chilean Dancer To Get Fortune From Big Estate

MONTE CARLO, Jan. 19.—UP—A fortune of $2,000,000 which Jacob Rutgers Leroy, New York lawyer, won nine years ago to his 71-year-old Belgian fiancée, Mme. Marie-Delphine Joan Baels, passed today to Luis de la Cuadra, a handsome young Chilean professional dancer.

A court fight initiated after Mme. Van Baels' will was read upon her death in 1922 was ended yesterday when the Monaco civil tribunal held she was sound of mind when she left the fortune to de la Cuadra.

Leroy, a famous corporation lawyer, was engaged to Mme. Van Baels. He died of heart disease here, where he had lived for years two hours before the wedding ceremony. Mme. Van Baels was 44.

As time passed Mme. Baels found consolation for the loss of her elderly fiancé in the friendship of de la Cuadra. Relatives of Leroy and Mme. Van Baels attacked the will. They charged that Mme. Van Baels was unduly influenced by de la Cuadra and that she was of unsound mind when she made him her heir.

Bingo Game To Be Operated In Sacred Precincts Of Court Room

MARTINEZ, Jan. 19.—New developments will soon take place in the efforts of "fascination" owners of El Cerrito, to operate without hindrance. A test case is to be made of the matter, so that the court can really determine the question as to whether or not they are within the law.

A short time ago Louis E. Davis and the Furuta Brothers, operating a game at 412 San Pablo avenue, objected to the wicketing of the game by Chief of Police E. R. Check.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY ENTERS

Through Attorney W. S. Roberson, an action was brought in the Superior Court asking for a perpetual injunction, alleging they were operating a public place in a legal manner. The temporary injunction was issued by Superior Judge T. D. Johnston, and the hearing is set for next week.

Since then Attorney Roberson, acting for the owners, filed articles of incorporation of what is now known as the "Corrito Club," and with that action the district attorney stepped into the scene.

PAIDS THREATENED

This official took the stand that since the incorporation, the place is no longer a "public" but a "private" place.

Raids on the property were threatened unless all of the evidence in connection with the club were produced in court, so that it could be shown just how the game was to be operated.

TO START NEW SUIT

This was finally agreed to by Attorney Roberson. The present injunction suit will be dismissed, and a new one started, in which it will be alleged, the club is private property, and the members are entitled to the same protection as a man in his home.

TO PLAY GAME IN COURT

At the hearing of the new case, all membership cards, by-laws and constitution, and the paraphernalia by which the game is operated will be produced in court, and actual operation of the game will be shown.

It is understood the district attorney has taken the position the game is illegal, that incorporation is a subterfuge, and is prepared to back up his contention not only by actual evidence but also by court decisions.

TEST CASE FAR-REACHING

It is believed by the district attorney that a test decision in this case will stop the plans made by "fascination" game owners to open up in all parts of the county. At this time an application is pending before the Martinez trustees for a permit to operate in that city.

In the meantime the game at 412 San Pablo will continue to operate pending the decision of the court, and during this period the hands of the El Cerrito chief are tied.

CHIEF CHECK GIVES WARNING

However the injunction does not apply to other places, and these Police Chief Check of El Cerrito has ordered to remain closed.

Lumber Code Is Held As Invalid

The U. S. Weather Bureau has forecast colder temperatures for Sunday. The rain and snow has halted temporarily, the bureau reported, and a fair weekend was forecast.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA HIT

Snow flurries were reported today in the mountains of Southern California.

Berkeley Park Attorney Dies Very Suddenly

Judge Emmet G. Palmer of 325 Ocean View avenue, Berkeley Park, died suddenly at his home Friday night. Arriving home at the usual time from his law office in the Plaza Building in Oakland he complained of not feeling well, and passed away within a few minutes thereafter.

He leaves a wife, Mattie, and a son, Eugene G. Palmer, who was associated with his father in the practice of law.

The death came as a very great shock to his many friends in Berkeley Park and El Cerrito.

Battle Over State Highway Plan Seen In Legislature

UNIFIED HIGHWAYS

2.—The entire system of highways could be unified under one central control point.

3.—Greater efficiency would result in financial saving, because the department of public works would require comparatively little extra equipment and manpower to extend its operations to all roads.

4.—No added gasoline tax would be needed. Under the present system of state, county and city roads, counties receive one cent, cities one-fourth cent, and the state highway division one and three-fourths cents of the three-cent gasoline tax. If the state took over all roads, the highway division would receive at least two and one-half cents of the tax, with possibly half a cent going to cities and nothing to the counties.

BILL EXPECTED

A bill, authorizing that movement, was expected to be introduced in both houses Monday. The governor's budget message will be presented to the Legislature Tuesday.

Argument advanced in favor of adding 60,000 miles to the state highway system present 11,000 miles in length.

Advocates would be relieved of present road taxes collected for purposes of building and maintaining county roads.

Other Offices Under Probe By D. A. And Grand Jury

MARTINEZ, Jan. 19.—With the seizing of the records of the county social service department at Richmond last Thursday by Deputy District Attorney Harold Jacoby under the direction of District Attorney Francis Healey, the attention of the people of the county is now centered on the main office at Martinez, of which the head is Mrs. Ruth McCord.

The grand jury has been investigating the department for some time and the special audit that has been ordered, it is reported is now nearly completed and will be presented in a short time.

Apparently things have been getting so warm, that the district attorney has entered the picture and with the records seized and in his possession will take a very active hand in the investigation as it progresses.

It is understood he will make a very exhaustive study of the records and will be presented to the grand jury.

One section of the special agreement with the accountants is that if anything in the audit "reveals a defalcation or shortage, requiring expenditure of additional time for the preparation of the report to be used in the prosecution of a civil suit or a criminal case," additional compensation is to be paid.

And the social department is now the only office that is under the scrutiny of the grand jury and the district attorney it is rumored, with sensational developments in the offing.

If reports are true several civil suits are to be instituted in the near future in which officials will be the defendants.

John Miller To Be Paid Honor

Sheriff John A. Miller will be honored guest of Oriental Tribe of Red Men at a "John A. Miller Night" ceremony at the lodge rooms on Monday evening.

Dan Nozicka heads the committee in charge and he will be assisted by Forrest Simon, C. L. Smith and O. J. Ripley. Dinner work will be handled and an Italian dinner will be served.

Rev. Bennett Leaves Richmond For New Church

Rev. Primus Bennett, who has served as pastor of the First Christian church for the past five years left yesterday for Lodi, where he will assume his new charge as pastor of the Lodi Christian church. He will preach his first sermon there today.

Some time this week Rev. Bennett will return to attend a state board of education of Christian churches to be held in Berkeley. On Saturday Rev. and Mrs. Bennett and children will move to Lodi to make their home.

No successor has been named for Rev. Bennett.

AWAIT BUDGET

Proponents claimed county supervisors objected mainly because the change would deprive them of wide patronage powers. Opponents doubted whether a statewide system would be so beneficial to residents of agricultural and mountain districts.

The highway bill and Governor Merriam's budget program were outstanding subjects facing the Legislature early next week. A deluge of bills was expected to descend after the administration program is revealed, particularly if Democrats feel that the program is lacking in progressive proposals.

H. STRAIGHT ARRESTED AT LAST RITES

Harold E. Straight, 25, of Port Chicago, brother of Rudolph Straight, slain San Quentin prisoner, yesterday and will be questioned by authorities as to his knowledge of the escape plot that cost the life of his brother at San Quentin prison last week.

Straight was arrested after Sheriff John A. Miller of Contra Costa county, had been asked by the state prison board to arrest Straight. It was discovered that the wanted youth was in Monterey, attending the funeral of his slain brother.

Followed Funeral
Sheriff Carl H. Abbott, who had followed the funeral procession from a Monterey undertaking parlor to the cemetery, blocked the passage of the mourners' autos as they left the graveside and took young Straight into custody.

at Salinas and held for questioning by San Quentin officials, who seek to learn if he had any connection with the getaway guns smuggled into the prison in preparation for the break.

TO QUESTION BROTHER

Julian Alco, acting warden of San Quentin, said he wanted to know what Straight did with the $327 his dead brother turned over to him in August of last year when the convict cashed his veteran's bonus certificate. Part of this money, Alco said, may have been used for the purchase of the getaway guns which were smuggled into the prison.

GIANTS GIVEN
ODDS TO WIN
PRO CONTEST

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—UP—The New York Giants were determined to prove to 30,000 San Francisco fans Sunday that they deserve the title of "world's football champions" when they meet a team of professional and college stars recruited by Bloude Evans.

The game is sponsored by the Knights of Columbus for charity. The Giants will start practically the same team that beat the Chicago Bears for the professional title.

Ken Strong, former N. Y. U. star, will act as quarterback for the professionals. Hurst, Danowski and Molenda will round out the backfield. Ready to step into the breach in a moment's notice is diminutive Willis Smith, who learned his football at Idaho.

Evans has recruited an imposing array of Pacific Coast talent for his stand against the Giants. He has enlisted in the service of charity for the football player and for the charity—a team of 11 pros and 11 collegiate seniors.

Heading the list of collegiates who lose their amateur standing are Larry Selmering, all-Coast center from University of San Francisco, his teammate Jim Barber, giant tackle, and Bucky O'Connor, who played guard for Stanford last year.

Gutowski, pro star, will do the master minding for the all-stars with Ernie Uddel, Stanford, and Storm at the half backs. Homer Griffith, former U. S. C. star, was imported from southern California to give the Nevets team much needed punch at fullback.

The Giants are 2-1 favorites despite the success Evans has had in the annual game. A team coach, or captain by him has won the annual game for the

BABE RUTH OUT
AS MANAGER OF
BOSTON BRAVES

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—UP—Developments at the National League meeting over the Boston Braves dog-racing fuss may have relegated Babe Ruth out of baseball so far as the 1935 season is concerned.

The 13 hour gabfest which ended with a reported grant of $100,000 to the financially warred Braves left the Boston club precisely in status quo, with Bill McKenzie remaining as manager. If the meeting had produced a shakeup in the corner at 144 Leavess with Charles F. Adams supplanting Judge Emil Fuchs as president, it is probable that Adams' first act would have been to fire William and his second to direct a cablegram to Babe Ruth in Paris.

Ruth would have accepted. The baseball world knows that the Babe is keenly hurt over the fact that none of the major league clubs has put in a bid for his services as player-manager. He indicated this two days ago in Paris. He announced with an unmistakable finality that he would not even consider playing "just one more year" with the New York Yankees.

Now the possibility that the Babe might join a circus has come to the fore and the more it is thought of the more sensible the idea seems. It's true that the Babe has been offered $75,000 he would seem to be foolish to decline. That's certainly three times as much as he could hope to receive even as a player-manager. Besides, a summer under the big top would allow the Babe to show his way to thousands of hitherto folk who have never glimpsed baseball's mightiest.

Incidentally it seems that a Babe Ruth for $75,000 would be a bargain. A circus so equipped could dispense with three elephants, a case or two of monkeys and all of its box constrictors, and the crowd would never know the difference. They'd be out there to see the Bam Jungo "homers" and nothing much else would matter.

If Ruth does accept the circus bid he'd do it for the money, yes, but even more for the general whooping and prestige such a tour would mean to him.

Amelia Earhart
Is Honored On
Oakland Landing

OAKLAND, Jan. 19.—UP—Amelia Earhart Putnam today came back to Oakland airport, her landing place last Saturday on her solo flight from Honolulu to the United States.

The big red monoplane in which Miss Earhart flew the Pacific set down at 4:19 P. M. after a flight from Los Angeles.

The plane was piloted by Paul Mantz, an expert pilot and mechanic, who is technical advisor to Miss Earhart. George A. Putnam, husband of Miss Earhart and Mrs. Mantz were in the party.

An aerial escort picked up the red monoplane as it approached San Francisco enroute to Oakland and formed a guard of honor.

A police escort was waiting at the field to escort the party to the Athens Club, where Miss Earhart will be dined tonight. Former President and Mrs. Herbert Hoover were to be among the guests at the banquet. Mrs. Hoover is to be a speaker.

Roosevelt, Jr.
Sued For Balm
In Car Accident

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—UP—Damage suits totaling $35,000 were filed today against Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., in East Boston District Court in connection with an automobile accident in which the President's son allegedly was involved.

The suits were on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel P. O'Leary. Mrs. O'Leary was knocked down by an automobile driven by young Roosevelt in front of Faulkner hospital last March, according to the plaintiffs.

Roosevelt a Harvard sophomore, has been stopped on charges of speeding several times. After a recent court appearance at Orange, Conn., he told reporters that it was the last time he ever would be arrested on automobile charges, as his father had enough troubles of his own and he did not wish to add to them.

INDIANS, U. C.,
WASHINGTON U.
CAGE WINNERS

PALO ALTO, Jan. 19.—UP—Stanford University defeated St. Mary's university 31 to 30 in a non-conference basketball game here tonight.

Stanford took the lead early in the play and maintained it until the middle of the second half when St. Mary's tied the score. The Cardinals rallied however and pulled away to hold supremacy in the scoring by a comfortable margin, Stanford led, 19 to 14 at half time.

Stanley, Stanford guard, was high point man with 14. Nelson, forward, led St. Mary's with 12 points.

CALIFORNIA WINS

BERKELEY, Jan. 19.—UP—Exhibiting perfect teamwork and a deadly offense, the University of California quieted tonight won the final contest of its "three game series" with Santa Clara university, 16 to 17.

In the two earlier games, Santa Clara defeated the Bears, but was unable to cope with a vastly improved California offense tonight.

California led throughout the game and at half time held a 21 to 19 advantage over the Broncos.

WASHINGTON AGAIN WINS

The score was 30 to 25, identical with last night's game.

Justice Agents
Make Complete
Gang Clean-Up

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—UP—Justice agents tonight either had eradicated or demoralized every major gang of bank robbers and kidnapers in America.

With machine gun and microphones, they have waged a war so relentless against crime that the list of dead and captured reads like a black book of the underworld.

Last week they completed the mopping up which started with the slaying last year of "Pretty Boy" Floyd, John Dillinger and "Baby Face" Nelson. They arrested Arthur R. "Doc" Barker in Chicago then killed his brother, Fred and his mother, Kate, in a five-hour gun battle in Florida.

The only nationally known public enemy still at large is Alvin Karpis, co-leader of the Barker-Karpis gang.

Bank Robbers
Given Life At Alcatraz Isle

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 19.—UP—Jim Clark and three of his associates in the bank robbing business packed up tonight in the county jail for a trip to Alcatraz where they probably will spend the remainder of their lives.

They will reside awhile at the Leavenworth, Kan., federal prison enroute.

United States Judge Edgar S. Vaughn today gave the prison-breaking Clark and his pal, Frank DelMar, 99 year sentences and their underchiefs, Aubrey Unsell and Innis Sledge, 50-year sentences.

The quartet, fearing the government would hang them publicly in a jury took their case, pleaded guilty to charges of robbing the First National Bank at Kingfisher and to taking hostages to shield their escape.

Plot On Life Of
Mexican General
Is Feared In L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—UP—Fearing a possible plot against the life of Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, former "Iron Man" president of Mexico, a 24-hour guard has been placed at St. Vincent's hospital where Calles is convalescing from an operation. It was learned today.

The guard was requested by Mexican State officials, police said.

"The guard will be maintained as a precautionary measure until the general is able to leave the hospital," Police Captain Warren Justice said.

Four officers are on duty at all times, carefully scrutinizing every person passing by his room.

Police officials disclosed the guard had been placed following a series of mysterious telephone calls to leading hotels of the city. In each case the caller, who spoke in broken English, sought to learn the whereabouts of members of Calles' family, summoned here by his illness.

One of the callers asked if General Calles had been removed from St. Vincent's hospital, where he underwent an operation for a gall bladder ailment early this week.

WORKER MUST DIE

Sir Malcolm To Sail For States
For Speed Dash

LONDON, Jan. 19.—UP—Sir Malcolm Campbell, holder of the world's land speed record, today decided to sail for New York Wednesday and go immediately to Daytona Beach, Fla., where he hopes to set a speed of 300 miles per hour.

Sir Malcolm has partially rebuilt the Bluebird in which he established a world mark of 272.46 at Daytona two years ago. Chief changes are the new and more perfectly streamlined body, twin rear wheels to check the wheel slip while accelerating, and a new braking system.

The new car is 28 1-2 feet long and weighs 4 3-4 tons, it carries 40 gallons of gasoline which it consumes at the rate of 2.9 gallons per minute.

Sir Malcolm refused to predict a speed which he might attain. He believes that if there was an unlimited room at Daytona Beach a speed of 300 miles per hour would be theoretically possible. His problem, as before, will be to get up speed, cover the measured mile, and pull up within the limit of the nine miles of beach usable.

Everything Is
Okay; Lupe 'n'
Tarzan Make Up

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 19.—UP—The motion picture colony stifled a yawn tonight as it noted that Lupe and her Johnnie were reconciled again.

Such news made for interesting gossip the first half dozen times it happened but this time—the 138th, an accurate count revealed—it didn't so much as cause a ripple.

The manner in which Lupe Valdez and Johnny Weissmuller became reconciled this time was a different but that was the only change from the routine. It seemed that the actress, who had filed for divorce a second time, and her actor-swimmer-husband arrived at the same night club with different parties.

The dark-eyed Mexican beauty scowled, mightily and "Tarzan" put on his most ferocious deep jungle look.

Then, to the amazement of all present, Lupe's table suddenly was short of Lupe. Weissmuller's table was short of the swimmer, and Lupe and Johnnie, arm in arm, were walking out of the night club.

GARDENS WILL SHOW PROFIT
FOR THE YEAR

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—UP—Madison Square Garden is beginning to talk in terms of millions, again, presaging return of the good old days.

Submerged in red ink since 1923, the most famous sports arena in the nation is climbing out, will show a profit for the fiscal year ending May 31, and will break all attendance records since it was built back in 1926.

More than a million persons will have poured in and out of the Garden since last June. This shatters all records for any similar period in the history of the Garden, according to figures revealed today by President John Reed Kilpatrick.

Although wrestling and the New York Rangers hockey team have shown a slight decrease in attendance, all other sports have pulled sufficient spectators to offset the loss in those two.

Even boxing, maligned on every hand, is well above last year. For seven indoor shows since last June, 56,041 persons turned out compared with 58,528 for eight shows in a similar period last year.

If the Bob Olin-John Henry Lewis bout had gone through last Friday night the increase would have been even more marked. Combining out-door and indoor shows, boxing is ahead by 15,600. The percentage of increase in all sports is 21.7 over the similar 33 weeks' period in 1932-34.

MERCURY TO DROP LOWER IS FORECAST

San Francisco bay region, and light mauls of snow covered peaks of the coastal range.

Southern California did its share of shivering, ravaged by hail, wind and lightning. Gusts of wind in the Long Beach-San Pedro-Santa Monica areas tore down power and trolley lines, and crippled shipping.

HEAVIEST SNOW

Heaviest snowfall in years covered the Sierra Nevada. The snow blanket at Norden, summit of the Sierras, was 133 inches. At Soda Springs, 149 inches. Drifts estimated at 30 to 50 feet naked the mountain ravines.

The Auburn road to Reno, closed because of snow, was reopened to one-way traffic.

Snow was deep on the Redwood highway north of Eureka to Crescent City. Five feet of snow blanketed the floor of Yosemite valley while temperatures dropped to 7 degrees above zero, the all-time record low.

LOW TEMPERATURE

At Lake Eleanor on the Hetch Hetchy project, the mercury was 2 below. Twenty-eight inches of snow fell in the last 24 hours, bringing the total to 84 inches on the ground. Storm conditions caused Southern Pacific officials to cancel a special excursion train to the Truckee snow carnival, which was postponed to Sunday, Feb. 3.

President's National Campaigners on "Polio"

When President Roosevelt recently consented to "lend" his 53rd birthday anniversary on Jan. 30, 1935, to a nation-wide ball, proceeds of which will be used to fight infantile paralysis, again the country's attention was focused on the seriousness of the disease.

The map above shows the number of orthopedic hospitals in the United States recognized by the American Medical Association, and their location. These 69 today carry the load in giving treatment to the 200,000 persons in the country who bear the handicaps of the disease. Seventy cents of every dollar raised this year will go to aid these victims in communities raising the money.

The other 30 cents will be turned over to the President's Birthday Ball Commission for Infantile Paralysis Research headed by Col. Henry L. Doherty (lower center of New York and 1934 Birthday Ball for the President and was recently appointed to serve in the same capacity in 1935.

Vice-chairman is Jeremiah Milbank (lower right) of New York, treasurer and trustee of the Institute for the Crippled and Disabled and a noted philanthropist. Paul de Kruif, formerly a bacteriologist at Rockefeller Institute and famous as an author, will be secretary, while Edward S. Harkness (lower left), a trustee of the Presbyterian Hospital and of the Metropolitan Museum of New York, will be the treasurer.

Other members of the Commission are Felix M. Warburg, Senator James Couzens, John S. Burke, Edsel B. Ford, Lessing Rosenwald, Mrs. Nicholas Brady and Raymond B. Fosdick.

IMPEACHMENT OF MOODIE BRIN FIGHT

BISMARCK, N. D., Jan. 19. UP—With Gov. Thomas L. Moodie from the House of the North Dakota legislature today congressional details to force impeachment of the new chief executive before the Senate when it expires Monday.

By a 1-1 interpretation of law, Moodie in office but more in a fact. He will be impeached automatically when a committee places the impeachment articles before the Senate.

VOTECATCHMENT

The Howayed by William H. Langer, his Non-Partisan League for, voted impeachment of the late yesterday. They believe he vote automatically would spend Moodie, but Attorney Gen. P. O. Sahlin, titled that enaction was not effective in the issue was before the chamber formally.

Moodie, 50, was his office over many legal hurdles thrown into path by Langer's non-partisan faction, was impeached in House on grounds of "conduct, malfeasance and misfeasance in office."

He had a governor only long enough to pick up the reins of office but a salient charge of corruption in the fact that he assumed office with knowledge that he was unqualified. They asserted he is not a resident of North Dakota, the required five years precept election, offering as proof a fact that Moodie voted in Minneapolis in 1930.

When the state votes upon the impeachment two-thirds majority will be required. Non-partisans themselves were not fully confident the sufficient strength could be mustered.

If Moodie is finally impeached, he will be succeeded by Walter Welford, lieutenant governor, and an ally of Langer. Welford, although a Republican, was elected at the same time that Moodie, a Democrat, defeated Mrs. Lydia Cady Langer last November.

The House prepared to elect a committee to investigate the impeachment articles to the Senate. In the Senate, the hearing on the articles will be in the form of a trial.

Publishers End Annual Session

SANTA CRUZ, Jan. 19. UP—The California Newspaper Publishers Association tonight elected Clarke F. Waite, president of the Southern California Publishers Association, president of the organization at the conclusion of its annual meeting here.

At its final meeting the association adopted resolutions condemning the teaching of Communist principles in tax supported institutions, and a ruling of the Postoffice Department allowing dumping of third class unaddressed circular matter indiscriminately at homes. Members also voiced opposition to contemplated action of the legislature looking toward abolishment of county advertising appropriations.

Mr. and Mrs. George Yorke and children, June Ann and Junia May, will spend Sunday in Piedmont as the guests of friends.

Judge and Mrs. A. G. Thompson will spend the week-end in Oroville.

Edward Seaman, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Seaman, is ill with flu and confined to his home.

Vigent de Martini is taking a trip to Half Moon Bay, Sunday.

SOCIAL PLANS OF ROOSEVELT FACE REVISION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. UP—The revision of the administration's social security program will be sought on the basis of six principal considerations. It was revealed tonight as leaders planned to push the legislation ahead rapidly in both House and Senate next week.

The outstanding questions to be decided during congressional consideration of the Wagner-Lewis security bills were:

RAISE QUESTIONS

1.—Whether the federal contribution to State old-age pension funds should be increased.

2.—Clarification of the provisions for government sale of annuities.

3.—Relation of the measures to business recovery.

4.—Technical correction of obvious mistakes in drafting the legislation.

5.—The effect of public reaction, principally in connection with the emotional wave of support for the Townsend plan.

6.—Investigation of factual background and the experience of foreign countries in the field of old age and unemployment insurance.

TELL STAND

Senator Frederick Van Nuys, D., Ind., said he believed not enough attention had been given in the reports of the President's committee on national securities to the experiences of foreign countries in working out the old age and dependents problem.

The present legislation, he said, "is largely experimental. We'll have to find out about things as we go along. It wasn't a question of what we can hope for as much as what we can expect to accomplish."

HOT DEBATE NEAR

The question of insurance in connection with the security program is certain to be one of the hot debate. Insurance companies are opposing any encroachment upon their business. On the other hand there is a definite movement in Congress in favor of putting the government more and more in the insurance business on the ground that the rates would be cheaper.

The plan, not yet worked out definitely, is to provide, at reasonable rates, government annuities which would bring a return of $100 a month beginning at the age of 60 or 65.

The House Ways and Means Committee is having hearings on the security program Monday and the Senate Finance Committee next Tuesday.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

By C. N. CHRISMAN, M.D.

Patients Are Individuals And Can Not Be Diagnosed and Treated Properly From Afar

MANY people write to me, asking why I do not give more space to the treatment of disease, and why I do not give specific treatment? In my articles, I am trying to give a working idea of the different diseases, what their action is, what the danger is, and what the symptoms are. How they show themselves. What the results will be if neglected, and how they will respond to treatment.

I also try to tell the methods of treatment used, and why you need a working knowledge of how disease may be prevented. Prevention, early recognition, and early treatment are the most important things in medicine. Many diseases start and progress very far before anything occurs to warn the patient that something serious is wrong. Indeed, some of the most fatal diseases come on and develop serious proportions before you know you are sick.

Bright's disease, diabetes, cancer, intestinal toxemia, chronic focal infections, which lead to various forms of rheumatism, and destruction of bones and joints, liver diseases, many heart conditions and tuberculosis are very likely to reach dangerous proportions without the patient realizing that anything is very wrong.

THE acute diseases, such as colds, influenza, pneumonia, measles, scarlet fever, and diphtheria strike the patient so hard that little time is lost, but very frequently we neglect the after care of these conditions and something serious results, because we do not give them proper consideration.

There are the reasons why we are asking people to see their physicians two or three times a year, even when they seem well, to discover whether all is well with them, and that no sneaking trouble is slowly undermining their health.

Even when you have this working knowledge of disease, I do not feel that you can make your own diagnosis, and self-medication is unwise. A physician makes a grave mistake when he attempts to diagnose and treat his own ailments. We do not see ourselves as others see us. When a patient consults a physician and begins to tell what he feels, the doctor listens to the story. At the same time, he observes his color, actions, expression of the lips, eyes, and face. Then he probably starts some place to make his examination.

HE EXAMINES the pulse, listens to the sounds of the heart, and lungs. I frequently have patients say, when I start to examine the heart, "Oh, doctor, my pain isn't there." It is in the stomach or legs or head.

I say, I must know what the heart is doing, whether it is regular, and what is its strength. I must know how the lungs are acting, for that discloses whether the circulation is right and how the oxygen supply is regulated.

If the heart is seriously embarrassed it may require treatment before the real trouble can be corrected. Many things must be determined before treatment can be commenced.

It is poor policy to try to treat a disease without knowing the patient. In many conditions the dosage is regulated by the patient's weight, age, color, temperament, social position, and the kind of work he does. In treating disease we must treat the patient as well as the disease.

People are individuals, and must be treated as such. The patient can tell his physician much, but there is much more that the physician must learn by observation, examination, and deduction. Under these circumstances it will appear plain why specific treatment cannot be prescribed.

Guide to Charm

PUFFS BENEATH EYES INDICATE NEED FOR CARE

By JACQUELINE HUNT

PUFFY, discolored areas below the eyes belong to the list of more serious beauty defects. Not only do bags under the eyes give the entire face an aged, dragged-down appearance, but they sometimes indicate a more serious physiological condition that needs attention.

Sometimes, of course, the puffs may be caused by an illness that you have been through recently, and frequently eyestrain is the cause, or at least a contributing factor. In any case, once the puffs have formed they are difficult to get rid of. Your first move is to consult your physician and find out the exact cause. Get rid of it, if you need them, or take any other corrective measures.

Once you have taken steps to remove the cause, you can improve the local condition by the use of hot packs.

Soak a rich cream or ointment, and place it around the eyes, the puffs in water that is comfortably hot. Let down and press these packs gently to the corner of each eye. When the puffs are soaked to lukewarm, dip the hands in very cold water and smooth over the lids and under the eyes. Dip the pads again in hot water and repeat, alternating the hot packs and cold water applications until you feel completely relaxed. Then wet fresh packs in very cold water, or with skin tonic, and place over the puffy areas.

If your skin tonic irritates this delicate under-eye area try a few drops of witch hazel in the hot water in which you moisten the packs.

Massage will help eliminate the puffs if it is done very carefully and gently. Apply a generous amount of cream and with the first finger of each hand, begin near the nose and smooth outward over the eyelids. With gentle circular movements work over the areas at the corners of the eyes, and with smaller circles, work inward below the eyes to the nose. Keep this up for about five minutes, then wipe off the excess cream and use ice water.

If the puffs are badly discolored, a few drops of lemon juice added to the cold water and allowed to dry on the skin will act as a mild bleach.

Do not forget that sufficient rest and sleep, a moderate amount of exercise, fresh air and a well-balanced diet will insure gratifying results. Do not expect miracles overnight, however. The improvement will be slow and steady.

"Unfriendly Chins"

If you have one you will be interested in our new leaflet of exercises and treatments for eradicating double chins and sagging chin lines. Just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and this notice.

Sweet Potato Casserole

Put alternate layers of apples and sweet potatoes, cut in cubes, in a greased casserole. Sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon and dot with butter. Add a little water. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) one hour or until tender. Remove the cover the last half hour of cooking. Serve hot with roast pork or veal.

High Outlet Helps
A high wall outlet will keep the ironing cord from dangling below the ironing board and around one's feet. If you have a low outlet, then attach a flexible arm with a groove on top to one end of the board.

Alan Chester Valentine, at 33, Will Take Up Reins As President of the University of Rochester Next Fall

THE latest fashion in college presidents seems to call for youth. First it was Robert M. Hutchins, who heard the call to the University of Chicago. Now Alan Chester Valentine, thirty-three-year-old master of Pierson College, Yale University, will assume duties as president of the University of Rochester next fall. He will be the fourth president of Rochester since the university was founded eighty-four years ago. He succeeds Dr. Rush Rhees, who has asked to be relieved at the end of this college year.

QUESTION: "Will you please tell me what colors would be best for me and what cosmetics I should use? I have red hair, a pinkish skin with pale, spotted freckles and green eyes. I have given up trying to bleach my freckles, but I would like to hide them if possible.—Laurie."

The best color for your winter costumes is dark green. Be sure that the color is quite dark and rich, however, since a vivid shade of green would emphasize your high coloring. You might also wear the warmer shades of gray and the dull turquoise shades that are so popular.

I would suggest a cream or peach tinted foundation cream or theatrical grease paint applied sparingly to your dampened skin before you apply your powder if you wish to make the freckles as inconspicuous as possible. Use a powder with lots of beige in it to tone down the high color. Use very, very little dusky orange rouge for your lips and cheeks. Be sure that your eyebrows are fairly dark and neatly shaped, and your lashes darkened so that your eyes are given emphasis. For evening use a blue-green eye shadow. You can be really lovely in spite of your "difficult" coloring.

High Outlet Helps

A high wall outlet will keep the ironing cord from dangling below the ironing board and around one's feet. If you have a low outlet, then attach a flexible arm with a groove on top to one end of the board.

Alan Chester Valentine, at 33, Will Take Up Reins As President of the University of Rochester Next Fall

THE latest fashion in college presidents seems to call for youth. First it was Robert M. Hutchins, who heard the call to the University of Chicago. ## Tasty and Nourishing Dishes for Today

Tempting Dishes Can Be Made With Stale Crust and Crumbs

By JUDITH WILSON

IN MANY households bread that is dry or slightly stale is bread wasted. Naturally most of us like to have bread for eating fresh and moist, but many tempting dishes can be made from that which becomes stale. Crusts and crumbs can be put to many other practical uses, too.

Roll or put the dry pieces of bread through the food chopper and sift, saving the finer crumbs to be substituted for flour in recipes for hot breads and to be used in fancy croutettes or cutlets. The coarser crumbs can be used in steamed puddings, fruit betties, meat loafs, or for topping baked or scalloped oysters.

For substituting crumbs for flour, sift before measuring and for each cup of flour called for in the recipe, use one-third cup of crumbs and two-thirds cup flour. Occasionally half and half can be used. The crumbs give a crispy crust and a delicate texture and flavor. Here are the recipes:

Baked Parsnips

Boil parsnips in salt water until tender, drain and press through a coarse colander. Season this puree with pepper and additional salt if needed and put into a buttered baking dish. Add a tablespoon grated onion and sprinkle the top with three-fourths cup fine bread crumbs. Pour over one-half cup rich milk or evaporated milk and dot the top with small bits of butter. Bake in a moderate oven for about half an hour.

Banana Pudding

Beat three eggs until very light and add one cup sugar and one-half teaspoon vanilla. Crumble four slices stale but not dry bread and moisten with four tablespoons cold water. Beat into the first mixture. Add a cup of milk and when mixed fold in three ripe bananas cut into thin slices and one-half cup seedless raisins. Pour into a buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate oven until golden brown. Serve warm with or without cream or hard sauce.

Sear two pounds breast of veal, cut into small pieces, in two tablespoons melted fat. When browned nicely on all sides, add a type of chopped fine and onion until light brown. Add salt and pepper and one teaspoon paprika, lower the flame and over allowing the meat to steam in its own juice for a few minutes, then add two cups boiling water and simmer for an hour. Add three-fourths cup bread crumbs and simmer for another hour stirring occasionally and adding a little more liquid if necessary. Just before serving, add one-half cup sour cream or one-half cup sweet cream and one-fourth pound salted mutton.

New York—Designers of sports clothes have done some particularly noteworthy things with knitted insertions in suede jackets. These insertions are introduced at the armholes and under pleats at back to provide extra freedom of arm movement. For instance, one jacket has three box pleats across the back with the matching knit fabric hidden beneath them. Another has the knit set in at the armhole in a decorative line.

Swanky looking suits combining suede with tweed are worthy of the attention of the sports woman who is a bit particular of form in every sense of the term. Some of the sports wear collections do this combination credit. In fact, in English sportswear the suede with tweed ensembles particularly capture one's interest. The trimming of practically styled, hip-length, belted jackets in the rich tweeds of skirts is particularly noteworthy, the tweed used for facing and wide revers.

One might add that tweeds have been dyed up in a series of arresting colors.

Stretched today are three new Paris hat creations. A tricorn with aquash silver front is developed in black paper Panama bordered with black program ribbon and trimmed with a fine round veil with the part over the eyes in maline and the rest in plain net.

The jaunty Breton employs two media: straw and linen, a combination used by Le Monnier. The straw is navy bengal and the linen, light blue entirely stitched.

Suitable for evening wear is this little toque of black flaque with two black paradise sprays.

At right of the column the travel costume is of a light gray tweed. The two-piece dress, topped by a sweater coat, is complemented by a coral velvet scarf and coral buckle. For the profile hat with peak crown, the costume fabric is selected.

ANSWER: You may wear it on either hand, but if you wear it on your left hand you give the appearance of being engaged and must expect those who know you to be interested in finding out what it is all about. Perhaps this explains why most girls prefer to keep the fourth finger of the left hand ringless until an engagement ring is placed on it.

You and Your Child

JEST BAD FOR CHILD UNLESS HE "GETS" IT

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

AT THE dentist's recommendation, Kenneth's mother was giving the lad a stick of chewing gum from time to time for the purpose of exercising his jaws. On a Sunday recently, he sat on the floor beside his father's chair, jaws clamping energetically on a wad of chewing gum, while fitting together the pieces of a building set. He was making a hoisting crane.

As the crane began to shape up, his eagerness increased, and from time to time he called dad's attention to the progress he was making. Once he called, "Dad, look!" When dad looked the child's head was thrust forward, his eyes wide with surprise. "I swallowed my gum," he announced.

At first dad grinned; but the situation suggested an opportunity for having some sport, so he stopped and shook his head while making a clucking sound with his tongue like an anxious hen.

There was a twinkle in his eyes which would have told you and me that dad was enjoying his little joke. But Kenneth did not see it. He heard only the words, "You want to be more careful with your gum, young fellow. It can clog up your system or stick to your heart." The boy's hands moved nervously around his waist. From his troubled look it was plain that he believed it to be a matter of minutes before the end.

That the child should be so completely taken in tickled dad. He laughed, and this relieved the tension. Something told Kenneth that it could not be very serious, else daddy would not laugh. Still, he did not know what to think, he did not see the joke. His puzzlement was expressed in a weak smile.

As a result of this experience, you cannot make the boy chew gum now. He is afraid he may swallow it.

Though dentists recommend it today, children, of course, can get along without chewing gum. But that is not the point. The point is that a child trusts us and that to his way of thinking anything seems possible. In short, he may be fooled easily by us. But everytime we frighten or worry him in jest, we make his life a little more complicated. Don't jest, therefore, unless he understands the jest and you can laugh together. In this way he will develop a sense of humor; not the other way.

FOR SOUTHERN RESORT WEAR

In colorful rooms, the use of black accents are distinctive. For instance, a black ornament or cigarette box on purple. Or silhouettes in narrow black frames against an apricot or bisque wall are effective.

Short Cuts

If you rave about the crisp deliciousness of hearts of lettuce, the children may get the impression that only the light inner leaves are edible. The outer green leaves are richer in Vitamin A, and far more distinctive in flavor.

To build up resistance against colds, eat such raw vegetables as celery, beets, cabbage, carrots, turnips and radishes. Use a combination of several of the above named vegetables, grate them and serve on lettuce with mayonnaise, cream cheese or peanut butter.

MODERN WOMEN

By MARIAN MATS MARTIN

Two Cases of the Only Daughter, One Who Ignores Men, and One Who Dotes on 'Em

IT IS not unusual to have mothers tell me their troubles and perplexities. Just recently, however, I have had the rather curious experience of having two sides of the only daughter problem.

One daughter has a father who is a doctor, an absurd pair, the mother being just 19 years older than her daughter, now 26, and the father only 20 years her senior.

The daughter has a college degree and is employed as a receptionist in a doctor's office. She is smart-looking rather than pretty. She lives at home with her parents and has "never given them a moment's trouble." But it is probably perfectly natural for a couple who have themselves married before they reached twenty to be alarmed by the fact that their daughter has reached her present age without seeming to have the slightest interest in men generally or any man in particular. They do not understand it. The girl has had off-and-on swains, but after a date or two they vanish in thin air, leaving the girl quite undisturbed by either their appearance on the scene, or their disappearance.

WHAT do you suppose is wrong with her? her parents demand of me. Apparently there is nothing wrong. She is a quiet, studious type, who neither smokes nor takes a cocktail, although her mother and father do both. She is simply indifferent to men, and shows it rather too plainly for their liking. Not being a ravishing type, the men who have been attracted to her decided it is not worth while to overcome the girl's obvious indifference, so—the world being filled with prettier and more responsive girls—they waste no further time or effort on her. But father and mother cannot let the explanation go to it. It is too simple for them to believe, so they are agonizing over their child and talking wildly of father complexes and of having her psychoanalyzed.

She herself, it seems, insists that she has a perfectly good time, a good home and job, and sees no reason for anyone being disturbed over her matrimonial prospects.

Now, the other parents are considerably older, their daughter, also 26, is fortified with a degree, too, and has a "swell" job in the personnel department of a big concern. She's attractive, smart-looking, and simply irresistible to the male clamoring for her favors. Her mother is kept in a turmoil, what with telephone calls, jockeying the boy friends so they won't collide, and keeping daughter's wardrobe ready for any emergency.

LIFE is just a series of house parties at New Haven or proms some place else. The parents are constantly having to decide whether their only child can stay this place or so that. The living room is always occupied by some of daughter's boy friends, and as their apartment is small, father and mother have to tuck themselves out of sight and hearing, getting along as best they can.

This girl has never given them any serious trouble either, but one gets at once that mother is worn to a frazzle over her and that her adoring father is torn with jealousy over the "whole kit and boodle of 'em."

He is forever growling because she is never at home, and was outraged because she spent the greater part of the holiday season going from one party to another.

Which parents are having the happier time of it—which are to be most envied? This girl who in college gave every evidence of being the student type never opens a book unless it is her engagement book, but seems to be having the time of her life juggling her dates and, until recently, seemingly caring little more for one fellow than another.

Lately, however, she has been showing a marked preference for a man still in law school and with years of drudgery ahead of him before he can hope to offer this girl anything like the home she now has. That's another problem, and one her parents are taking very seriously. Having always had everything she wants, she's going to have the husband she wants, too, if father can arrange it. Still it's a problem. For this we have children.

marketers succeed. Failure of the ways and means committee to hasten action on the bonus bill would prolong the fight for a month or two. Party leaders want to get rid of the anti-administration measure as soon as possible, so that by the time the session adjourns, the country could be forgetting the slap at the administration.

TO OPEN FIGHT

Fatman's "committee of 20" which is steering the Patman inflation-bonus bill along, met today and decided to fight for passage of a bill providing for payment in new currency as opposed to the Vinson American Legion bill's bond issue proposal.

The committee agreed to ask all veterans to oppose any bonus march, and to avoid disarrangement between various veterans' organizations over types of bonus legislation.

NO DEBT INCREASE

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 19.—UP—Addressing American Legion membership solicitors today, at the close of a state roundup of unaffiliated World War veterans, National Commander Frank N. Belgrano, Jr., termed immediate payment of the bonus "the soundest business proposition" confronting the country.

"It is sound business to use some of the billions our government is spending for relief and recovery," the San Francisco financier declared, "to pay a debt instead of using that money to increase the national debt."

Payment of $2,000,000,000 to 3,532,000 holders of adjusted service certificates, voted by Congress in 1924 to be payable in 1945, "will not add a dollar to the national debt," he said.

Desertion Charge Basis For Divorce

MARTINEZ, Jan. 19.—Charging desertion and failure to provide, Mrs. Constance Thompson today filed suit for divorce in superior court here against William M. Thompson through Attorney Tarr N. Calfee of Richmond.

The couple married February 15, 1929 and separated July 15, 1932.

Custody of two minor children and $40 monthly alimony is asked.

LAST RITES HELD

Funeral services were held yesterday from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel for the late Mrs. Alexandria Holm, 58, who died Wednesday evening. Rev. G. Herbert Hillman delivered the eulogy and interment followed in Sunset View cemetery.

Bruno Bank Account To Be Probed

The State's exhibits which, to date, have amassed overwhelming evidence against the defendant.

HAS IRON NERVE

Reilly said he was not perturbed, jovial and smiling, he talked with correspondents today just before entering the county jail to confer with his client.

He said Hauptmann was retaining his iron nerve and "is not worried." Hauptmann, he said, has been given a copy of all the State's exhibits in his monetary transactions and the prisoner says he can disprove the State's contention that any ransom money figured in his various dealings.

WILL TELL STORY

Photostatic copies of Hauptmann's banking and brokerage accounts—the accounts that show he had $77 in the bank in March 1932, before the kidnapping, and that this sum rose to more than $3,000 in 1933—have been placed before him.

Hauptmann will contend, it is understood, that part of this modest wealth had come to him as the result of his partnership in the fur business with Isidor Fisch, the tubercular fur cutter who is dead.

CLAIMS TOLD

Reports that witnesses would be brought forward to show that Fisch and Hauptmann were engaged in swindling transactions in various sections of the eastern United States, were denied by his counsel.

There is in existence, a New Jersey resident who may claim to have done business with the shadowy firm of "Fisch and Hauptmann," but whether the evidence is substantial enough to warrant presentation to the jury is questioned.

adequate. That sum, barely provides for a skimpy and squalid existence, not even adequate for two good meals a day when it is considered that the pensioner must pay for rent, laundry, insurance and other necessities and necessary incidentals. Personally, I know one man receiving the $40 pension from the State of California who informed me that his only luxury was an occasional plug of tobacco and that the margin over actual necessities was not sufficient to buy a suit of clothes.

WASTE APPREHENSION

Senator Borah also voiced an objection to the President's plan on the score of a possible waste in the administration of the funds. I can readily subscribe to the Senator's apprehension after observing the operation of the SERRA in some localities.

As an illustration, in San Diego county last summer, I was informed there were 12 clerks employed at headquarters while only 16 men were at work on the sole project that had been instituted. Such a juggling condition of affairs may not have lasted long, but there apparently was no legitimate excuse for wasting money on political parasites which should have been employed in constructive and beneficial channels.

NOT YET LINKED

Friends of the Townsend bill while dismayed, do not propose to abandon the fight and rather than submit simply to the chopping-block, they intend to amend the bill, reducing the amount of the monthly pension to $100, or even as low as $60. Unless Congress is composed of a heterogeneous collection of rubber stamps some adequate remedial legislation may be accomplished, and the pressure from twenty million people, the superannuated and their friends may prove as tantalizing as the agitation for the war veterans' bonus.

ESTABLISHES STANDARD

While the President may be criticized, he should not be condemned for his attitude. Inheriting great wealth and a vast estate, he has never felt the pangs of poverty and consequently his viewpoint is a birds-eye perspective, instead of one of intimate knowledge or of drastic experience.

But until he does change, he must face the charge that he has issued an ultimatum that a dollar a day is sufficient for the standard of living for the average American citizen.

gled into the prison before the break.

Alco and District Attorney Albert E. Bagshaw of Marin county conferred for some time at the prison in an attempt to determine the number and identity of the "outsiders" who aided Straight and his three companions in the escape plot.

SEEK EVIDENCE

After they checked the evidence they have obtained separately, Bagshaw questioned for more than an hour Alexander MacKay, Joe Kristy and Fred Landers, the fugitive convicts who were captured in the gun battle in which Straight was slain.

Bagshaw also took depositions from Warden Holohan, who is in bed in the prison hospital recovering from a beating administered him by Straight at the start of the prison break, and from Mark E. Noon, secretary of the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles and one of the seven hostages taken by the escapees.

REPEATED STORIES

Warden Holohan and Noon repeated their stories of the invasion of the Warden's home by the four convicts, the beating of Holohan into unconsciousness, and the subsequent wild ride in a car crowded with hostages.

Similar depositions also will be taken from Frank C. Sykes, Joseph H. Stephens and Warren Atherton, members of the board who were kidnaped with Noon and the three prison guards at a kidnaped Sykes will be questioned at St. Mary's Hospital, San Francisco, where he is confined with a leg wound received in the gun battle.

STEVENS LINKED

Alco said he had definite evidence linking Straight and Clyde Stevens, confessed bank robber held in San Francisco. Stevens, the three surviving members of the four escapees said, smuggled their guns into the prison to them.

"Stevens and Straight were pals in San Quentin," Alco declared. "Stevens and Albert Kessel, his admitted accomplice in San Francisco bank robberies, were held in the San Francisco county jail in lieu of $50,000 bond, or $25,000 cash each after an indictment charging each of them with seven counts of bank robbery was returned before Presiding Judge D.
